DBR
First things first, a huge thanks to Expel for the translations and Banditking for the raws. This is, yet again, another series DBR decided to pick up. We actually picked this series up the day after the raws were released but no translators were willing to translate this, however Expel did so. Give him your appreciations first! Keep working on those new series-es. Your saving the world by doing so~
To fill in this extra space, I want to re-announce that we're still looking for J-E and C-E translators and editors. If interested, go to our homepage (which is printed above) to see moar info. Please consider joining us, for we have moe~
